Discussion Questions

- When is a time that you've offered a painful response to violence? How about when you've offered a productive response to violence?
- What are some patterns you've noticed in your family or workplace that if left unchecked, could build up to a more obvious experience of violence?
- Using the definition that Violence is any behavior designed to damage or destroy others, What is the most simple, seemingly innocent act of violence that you experience on a daily basis?
- What kind of world do you want to pass on to your children and grandchildren?
- Think about a situation that is stressful, triggering, or offensive to you and your way of life. As a Christian, what are you willing to do, to practice non-violence instead of perpetuating more violence?
